E. D. A. DOUG

It seems we're at fault for most of our troubles. The "E. D. A. DOUG" fire, for example, every year hundreds of lives are saved by the fire department. The cause of the trouble is not the fire, but the fire department. The fire department is not the cause of the trouble, but the fire. The fire is the cause of the trouble, and the fire department is the one who saves lives.

The Sunday school here and in other parts of the city is a new one. It is a new one because it is a new one. It is a new one because it is a new one. It is a new one because it is a new one.

Placed upon the desk of the Herald's editor, we noted a dozen ears of corn from this year's harvest. It was of the hybrid type, corn, hard and sound, and filled out with regular rows of the Husk like kernels. Even now, our grovers could tell with envy upon this excellent corn. Corn in the future is bound to be one of the cereal kings of the Glades.

When you go out on a Sunday weekend and establish a camp, it is always good sportsmanship if you gather up and dispose of all your rubbish and garbage. Do this and farmers will always be willing for you to make visits to their fishing waters.

A. R. Broadfoot, engineer in charge of the Clewiston station of the Army, has been stationed there for the past 15 years, at first as assistant and since 1941 as head chief. He has had intimate connection with most of all the big lake improvements and he knows his field like a book. He informed the writer that the flood and high waters of last fall did perceptible erosion along the dike, but nothing to approach a serious break. That the repair work now in progress will make the protective dike as strong as it was when originally built.

A friend of mine brought me in a seal and yellow newspaper clipping of the village of November 28th, 1944, appearing under a Belle Glade date line and published in some unknown paper. The story runs thus: "Bright early Wednesday morning, the first experiment in the use of airplanes for dusting beans was made here. N. N. Starling, large local grower, made arrangements with a Miami aviator to dust 250 acres of beans lying north of the asparagus farm. Large Everglades growers are greatly interested in the experiment and are hoping that it will cut down the costs of dusting and spraying, as well as being successful to the crops. From this small start, dusting methods and apparatus have taken long steps of development and now there are a dozen or more aviators who spend most of their time in this type of farm aid."

Management of the Florida East Coast Railroad cites the fact that it cost the corporation a million dollars more for its fuel bill in 1947 than it did the year prior. With reported increased business, yet the corporation went in the red to the extent of $4,000,000 in 1947, as against a profit of $106,000 shown in 1946.

Continued from page 1 that cork lobster expecting fish action, he has a bit of time to do some cogitations. From the time the fisher drops that baited hook into the water, he is filled with anticipation for action of the warty denizens. What is it going to be when the bite does come, a bass, a catfish, mudfish, a gar or the scrappy blue gill? You just have to wait in faith till your fish is safe on land for there is many a slip between the hook and the land. It is amazing how many people do get enjoyment at this outdoor pastime, at the ocean, lake or far away panhandle potholes. It sort of soothes the tired and worn nerves. Then one of those open air fish dinners certainly can whet up ones appetite to real gustatorial size and pleasure.

The Rotary Magazine for July prints a story from the pen of Dan Holland, who writes the Red and Red stories for that publication, which has a bit of historical interest to the addicts of the casting rod type of angling, especially for black bass, which had its origin in Kentucky. The first multiplying cast reel was devised by a group of jewelers who made them on a precision type the same as they made watches, more than a hundred years ago. These reels became modified into what are now used in deep sea and fresh water fishing outfits.

Demonstration Club Members Learn About Home Handicraft

The July meeting of the Woman's Home Demonstration Club met at South Bay Recreation Center Thursday afternoon. Members answered to roll call with their favorite joke. The treasurer reported a balance of $35.82 in the club and the recreation chairman reported that when all outstanding bills have been paid, there would be a balance on hand of slightly over $100.00.

Miss Sara Horton, home demonstration agent, had an exhibit of interesting and easily made handicraft articles exemplifying ing hand painted wood craft, copper work, accessories from felt and a number of other pleasing articles suitable for home or personal adornment gifts. A number of these crafts will be taught at the summer camp.

A group of the local members are planning to attend camp at the Scout Camp at Lake Osborne near Lantana the week of July 11-14. Members unable to attend camp may have the privilege of attending the days activities on Tuesday, July 13, County Council Day. Presidents of all local clubs are requested to hand in their reports for the quarter just past on that day.
